FAQ:

What specific qualifications or prerequisites are needed for participants before enrolling in the course?

This course is open to professionals involved in risk management, business continuity, and operational resilience. No prior certification is required, but experience in compliance, cybersecurity, or governance is beneficial.

How long is each day's session, and is there a total number of hours required for the entire course?

Each day's session lasts approximately 4-5 hours, totaling 20-25 hours of instruction over five days.

How does operational resilience differ from business continuity management?

While business continuity management BCM focuses on preparing organizations to recover from disruptions, operational resilience is broader, emphasizing continuous adaptation, impact tolerance, and proactive risk mitigation strategies.

How This Course is Different from Other Operational Resilience Courses:

Unlike traditional business continuity or risk management courses, this program integrates cyber resilience, third-party risk, compliance, and governance strategies into a holistic framework. Participants will gain hands-on experience through scenario-based learning, regulatory case studies, and industry-specific best practices. Furthermore, this course is aligned with the Lead Operational Resilience Manager certification, offering a recognized credential for professionals aiming to advance their careers in operational resilience management. By the end of the program, attendees will be equipped with the tools and knowledge to build resilience strategies, mitigate risks, and enhance business continuity across industries.
