Course Overview:

SHRM Advanced HR Analytics: Driving Data-Informed Workforce Strategy is a high-impact corporate training course designed for experienced HR professionals seeking to move beyond descriptive reporting toward strategic, insight-driven workforce decision making. The course focuses on advanced HR analytics, people analytics, and workforce analytics as practical tools to diagnose organizational challenges, improve workforce outcomes, and influence executive decision makers.

Participants will learn how to apply HR data analytics and human capital analytics to real business scenarios, enabling data-driven HR strategy across workforce planning analytics, talent analytics, employee retention analytics, engagement analytics, diversity and inclusion analytics, and performance analytics in HR. The program emphasizes applied people analytics, workforce intelligence, predictive HR analytics, and people analytics storytelling to ensure insights are actionable and aligned with leadership priorities.

Grounded in SHRM HR analytics and SHRM people analytics principles, the course integrates qualitative and quantitative HR analysis, HR analytics frameworks, HR dashboards and KPIs, HR data visualization, and advanced HR analytics case studies. By the end of the program, participants will be able to connect analytics outputs to measurable HR analytics business impact and advance their organization's people analytics maturity.

Target Audience:

- HR managers and senior HR officers
