

Mastering Operation Management: A Training Course for Manufacturing and Non-Manufacturing Sectors

Mastering Operation Management: A Training Course for Manufacturing and Non-Manufacturing Sectors

Course Overview

The course is designed to provide complete knowledge and practical skills in operations management. This course covers essential concepts such as Operations Management, Production System, and Operations System Framework, aiming to enhance participants' understanding of various production techniques, including Job-Shop Production, Batch Production, Mass Production Techniques, and Continuous Production Management. Participants will learn about the objectives of production management, strategic operations management, and productivity improvement techniques. The course also delves into decision-making in operations, capacity planning, facility location planning, plant layout design, and demand forecasting methods.

Target Audience

- Operations Specialists

Course Offerings

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Understand core operations management concepts.
- Differentiate between various production systems.
- Implement job-shop, batch, mass, and continuous production techniques.
- Develop strategic plans for production and operations.
- Apply productivity improvement techniques and international standards.
- Make informed decisions using advanced operations decision-making frameworks.
- Plan and manage capacity effectively.
- Optimize facility location and plant layout design.
- Forecast demand accurately using various methods.
- Develop and design products efficiently.
- Implement materials management strategies and inventory control techniques.
- Utilize just-in-time manufacturing and aggregate planning strategies.
- Master scheduling techniques and production scheduling.

Training Methodology

The training methodology for the course is a blend of theoretical and practical approaches designed to maximize learning and application. The course includes interactive lectures on key concepts such as Operations Management, Production Systems, and Strategic Planning for Production. Participants will engage in case studies that simulate real-world scenarios in manufacturing and non-manufacturing sectors. Group work sessions will foster collaboration and problem-solving skills, focusing on productivity improvement techniques and capacity planning.

Course Toolbox

- Workbooks with detailed notes on operations management concepts.
- Reading materials on international productivity standards and strategic operations management.
- Online resources and tutorials on production techniques and materials management strategies.
- Checklists and templates for facility location planning and plant layout design.

- Topic 1: Economic Models in Operations
- Topic 2: Statistical Models in Operations Management
- Topic 3: Design and Systems Capacity
- Topic 4: Capacity Planning Process
- Topic 5: Importance of Capacity Decisions
- Topic 6: Facility Location Planning
- Reflection & Review: complete review of advanced techniques and course summary

How This Course is Different from Other Operations Management Courses

This course stands out due to its complete coverage and practical approach. Unlike other courses, it integrates in-depth knowledge of manufacturing and non-manufacturing operations, ensuring relevance across industries. The course emphasizes strategic operations management, productivity improvement techniques, and decision-making frameworks tailored to real-world applications. Participants benefit from a blend of theoretical concepts and hands-on exercises, including case studies and group work.
