- Emergency Services

Course Offerings:

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Understand the key components of the Crisis and Emergency Management Manual CEMM.
- Identify roles and responsibilities in crisis response and emergency management.
- Develop skills to coordinate with external emergency services.
- Learn effective communication strategies during a crisis.
- Explore recovery and resumption planning post-incident.

Training Methodology:

The training methodology for this course incorporates a blend of theoretical and practical learning approaches to engage participants actively. Lectures will provide foundational knowledge on crisis and emergency management principles, while interactive discussions will allow for the exchange of ideas and experiences among participants. Case studies relevant to port operations will be utilized to analyze past incidents and their responses, encouraging critical thinking and lessons learned. Practical workshops, including role-playing exercises, will simulate emergency scenarios, allowing participants to apply their skills in a controlled environment. Reflection and feedback sessions will help participants evaluate their learning outcomes and identify areas for continuous improvement, fostering a culture of safety and preparedness.

How This Course is Different from Other Crisis and Emergency Management Courses:

This course differentiates itself by focusing specifically on the complexities of port operations, addressing unique challenges such as handling dangerous goods and coordinating with multiple stakeholders in maritime environments. The program emphasizes multi-stakeholder collaboration, ensuring participants understand effective coordination with various entities, including external emergency services. It offers a holistic approach by covering all aspects of crisis and emergency management, from risk assessment to recovery planning. The hands-on learning methods, including practical workshops and role-playing exercises, allow for real-world application of skills. Additionally, the course promotes effective communication strategies essential during crises, fostering a culture of safety and preparedness within organizations, and encourages continuous improvement through personal action plans.
