

Fiscal Risk Management Mastery: Strategies for Government & Public Finance Leaders

Fiscal Risk Management Mastery: Strategies for Government & Public Finance Leaders

Course Overview:

"Fiscal Risk Management Mastery: Strategies for Government & Public Finance Leaders" is a five-day corporate training program designed to empower government officials, economists, and public sector leaders with the tools and techniques needed to assess, manage, and mitigate fiscal risks. This course equips participants with a deep understanding of public finance risk, government debt risk, and contingent liabilities. Through the use of fiscal risk assessment tools, fiscal risk matrices, and debt sustainability frameworks, attendees will learn how to implement risk-based public budgeting, improve sovereign risk management, and assess fiscal exposure in public-private partnerships. The course integrates insights from real-world case studies, including how to manage fiscal risks in government, best practices for fiscal risk disclosure, and how to mitigate risks linked to contingent liabilities and SOEs.

Target Audience:

- Finance Ministry staff and fiscal policy analysts
- Budget directors and public accountants

FAQ:

What specific qualifications or prerequisites are needed for participants before enrolling in the course?

A background in public finance, economics, accounting, or risk management is beneficial. No prior experience in fiscal risk tools is required.

How long is each day's session, and is there a total number of hours required for the entire course?

Each day's session is generally structured to last around 4-5 hours, with breaks and interactive activities included. The total course duration spans five days, approximately 20-25 hours of instruction.

What is the difference between implicit and explicit contingent liabilities?

Explicit liabilities are legally binding obligations, like loan guarantees or PPP contracts. Implicit liabilities are not formalized but arise from public expectations e.g., bailouts or disaster response funding.

How This Course is Different from Other Fiscal Risk Courses:

This course combines analytical depth with strategic insights into managing public finance risk through fiscal risk matrix development, debt sustainability framework integration, and tailored strategies for contingent liabilities. The training includes country-specific exercises on how to manage fiscal risks in government and public-private partnership risk scenarios. With case-based learning, risk disclosure simulation, and cross-country benchmarking, this course offers an unmatched opportunity to master fiscal risk management with tools and approaches used by top institutions.
