Overview

Business Storytelling and Persuasive Pitch Design Training Course is a one-week practical programme for professionals who must turn complex ideas, proposals, evidence, and recommendations into clear decision-focused narratives. Participants develop a Persuasive Business Pitch Pack containing an audience brief, message architecture, evidence map, story bank, visual sequence, delivery plan, and response strategy. The course distinguishes ethical influence from manipulation and addresses attribution, confidentiality, evidence limits, and responsible use of emotion. Agile Leaders Training Center develops communication capability through structured practice and feedback.

FAQs

Is this a general public-speaking course?

No. The course focuses on business decisions, proposals, recommendations, and professional pitches, while delivery practice supports that purpose.

Do participants need an existing presentation?

No. They may develop a pitch from a supplied case, although bringing a real non-confidential proposal can make the practice more directly relevant.

Does storytelling replace evidence?

No. Stories clarify meaning and consequence; claims still require appropriate evidence, attribution, and acknowledgment of uncertainty.

Are slide-design tools taught?

The course covers slide purpose, visual sequence, and evidence presentation, but it is not software training for a specific presentation platform.

What is the final assessment?

Participants deliver a timed business pitch, respond to questions, receive structured feedback, and record an improvement plan.
