Arabic Legal Writing and Document Drafting Practice Training Course

Ref: 1765_232700 Date: 14 – 18 February 2027 Location: Tashkent Fees: 4500 Euro

Course Overview

The Arabic Legal Writing and Document Drafting Practice Training Course develops the discipline to transform legal research, facts, and instructions into clear Arabic legal documents. Participants practise Arabic legal writing and document drafting for memoranda, opinions, notices, pleadings, and case summaries while preserving professional boundaries and avoiding unsupported legal conclusions. The applied learning experience is delivered by Agile Leaders Training Center.

The course integrates Arabic legal memorandum writing, Arabic legal terminology and style, Arabic pleading and notice drafting, and legal document proofreading and quality control. It is not a translation, general business-correspondence, commercial-contract, or legislative-drafting course.

Who Should Attend

- Arabic-speaking lawyers and legal researchers
- Legal officers, paralegals, and judicial support staff

Frequently Asked Questions

Is this a legal translation course?

No. Participants write natively in Arabic from facts, authorities, and instructions rather than translating English legal text.

Does the course teach commercial contract drafting?

No. It focuses on legal memoranda, opinions, notices, pleadings, case summaries, and document quality controls.

Is the course tied to one jurisdiction?

No. Exercises teach transferable writing methods and require participants to verify the applicable law, authority, form, and local procedure.

How is legal terminology controlled?

Participants maintain a terminology register, verify authoritative usage, define terms consistently, and review the full document for variation.

What does the final portfolio contain?

It contains a writing plan, terminology register, legal memorandum, opinion section, formal notice, pleading passage, and final quality checklist.

Conclusion

Participants leave able to produce structured, precise, traceable, and professionally controlled Arabic legal documents.
